FOREWORD

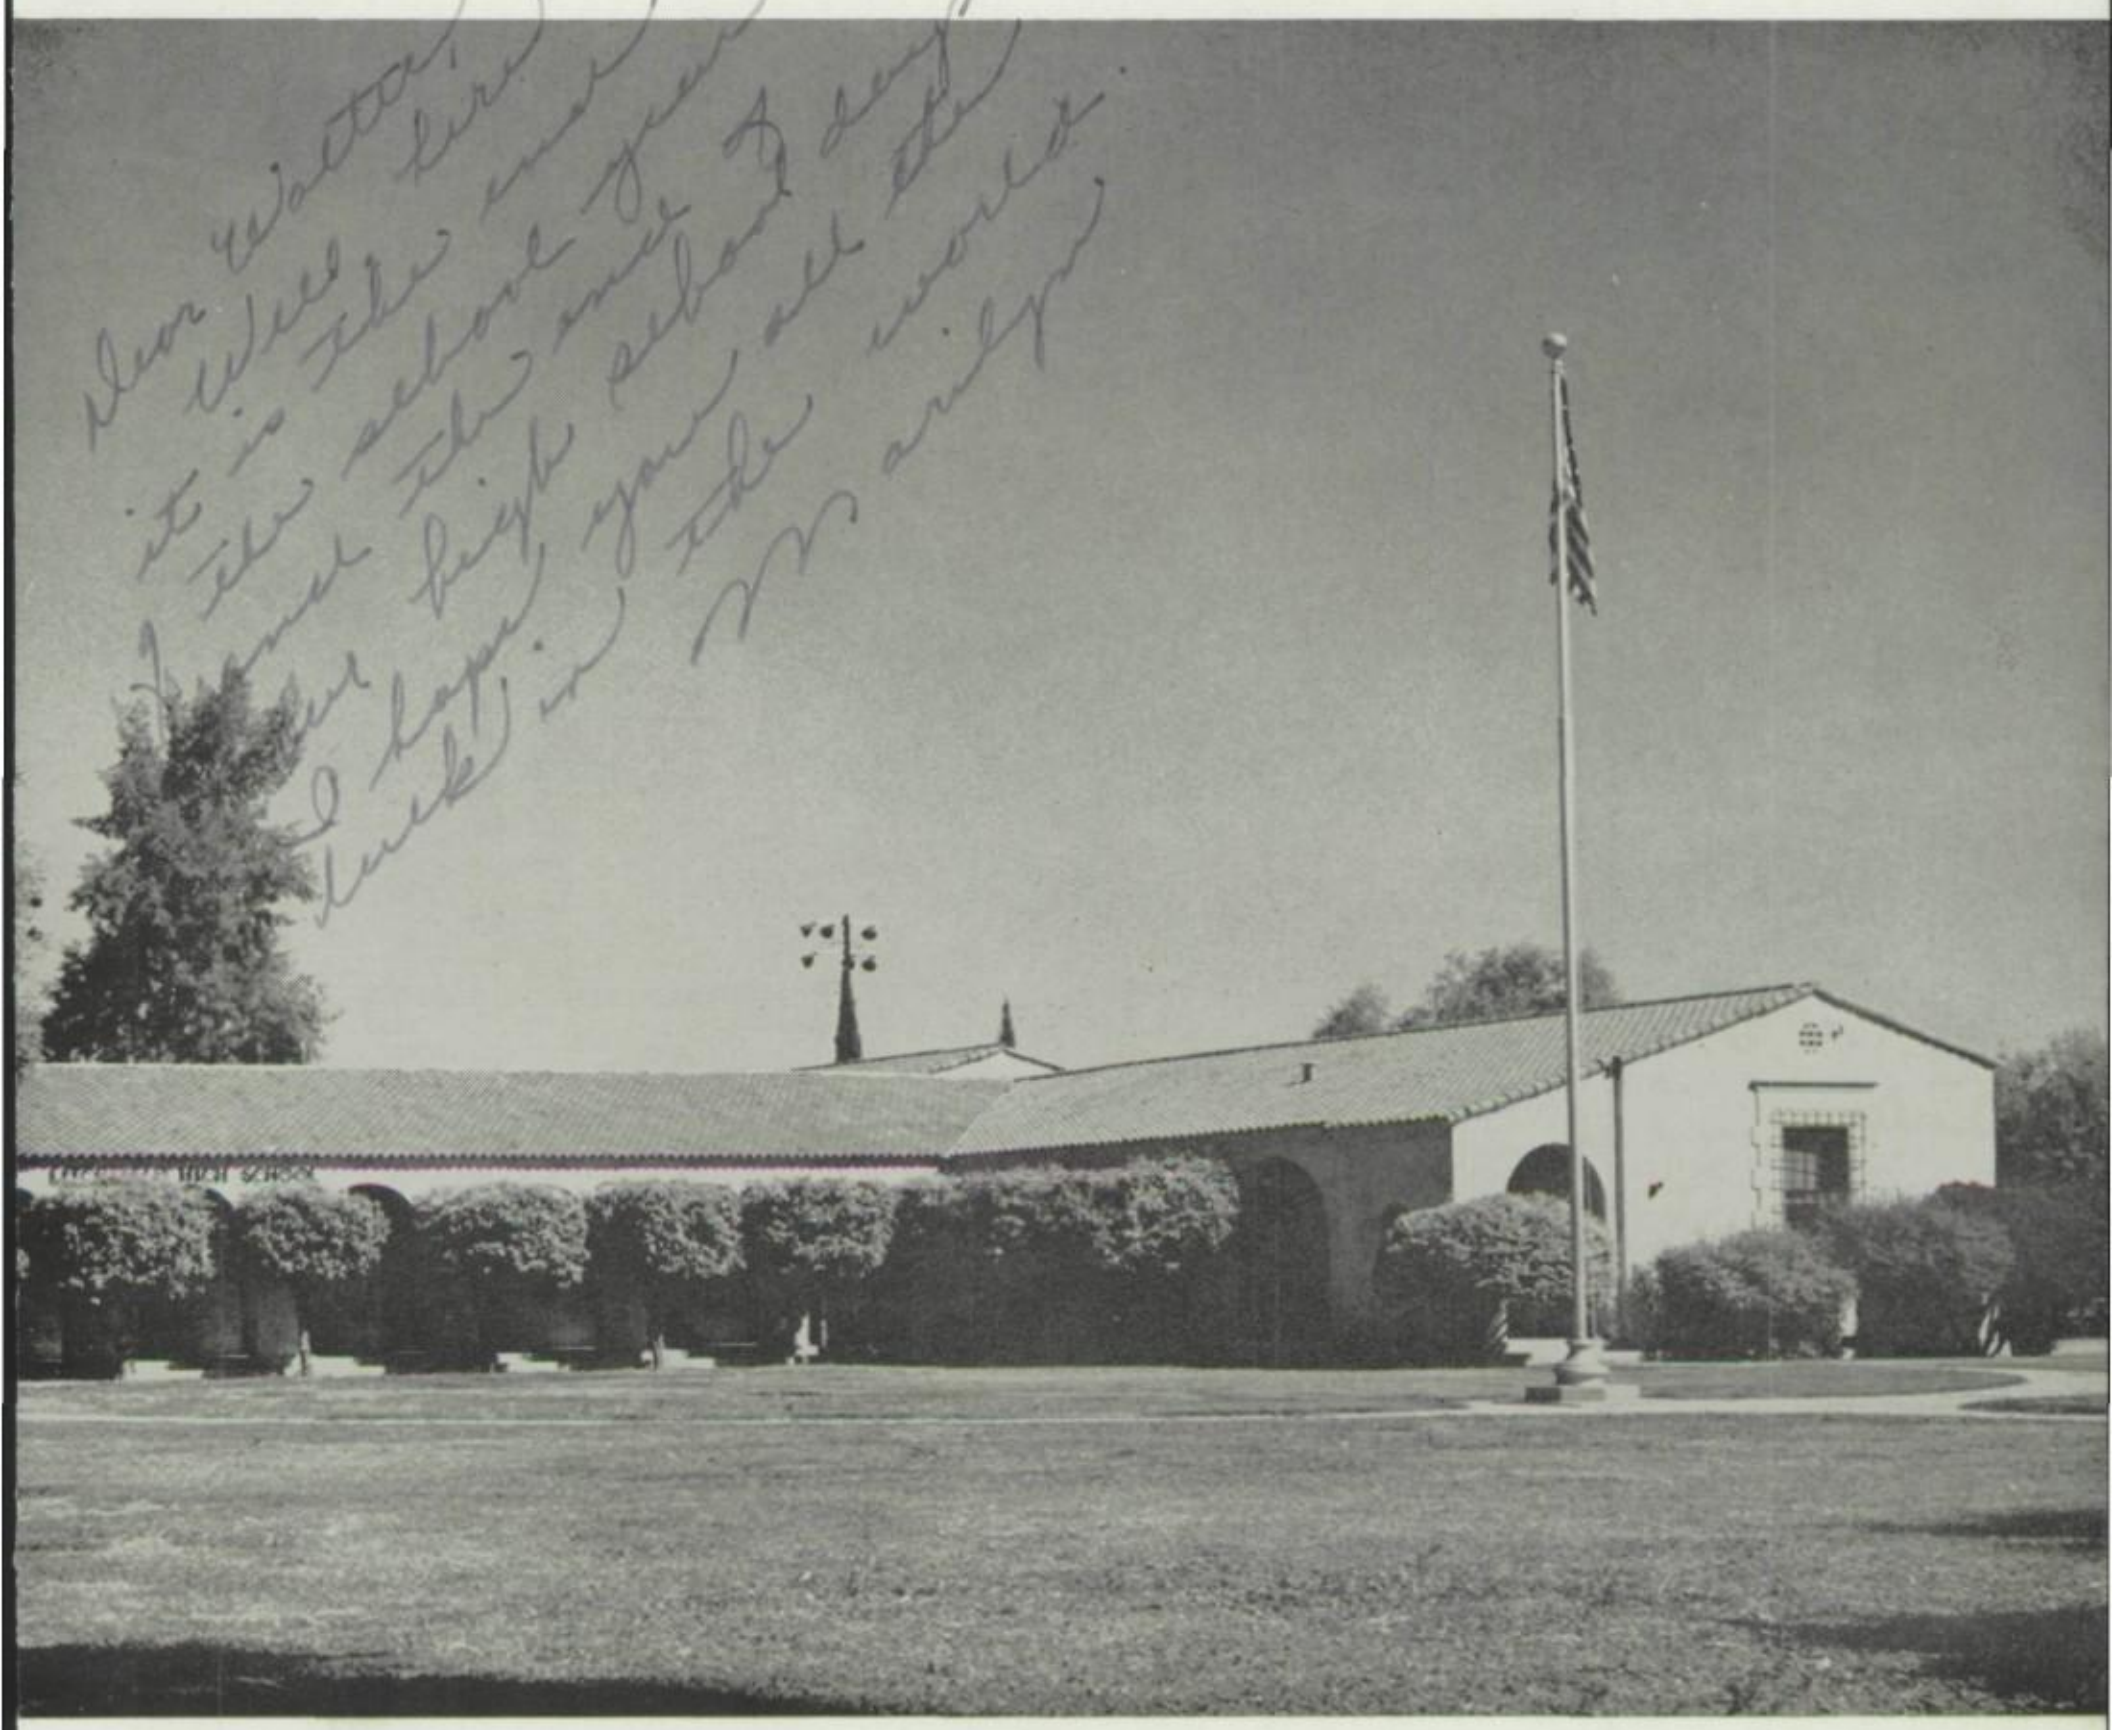
This story is called Our School. It is edited by Kyle Needham and Crystal Armstrong and represents the contributions and efforts of the members of the Senior Class; while I, the Litchfield Owl, the emblem and protector of the school, have been chosen to be the narrator.

The time of our story is the school year of 1950-51, and the events occur at Litchfield High School. So turn the pages of this book and see the beautiful setting, meet the characters of our story, and watch the plot unfold.

This is Our School . . . Litchfield High School. It is located in Litchfield Park, Maricopa County, Arizona; latitude 32 degrees 30 minutes; longitude 112 degrees 24 minutes. L. H. S. is not much different from any other school, but we think we have the prettiest campus, friendliest students, and the best teachers in the state.

Over there on the wall is a plaque that says Our School was built in 1928 by Mr. P. W. Litchfield. Earliest records there in the office have names like Dobson and Phillips; not so very different from those of today.

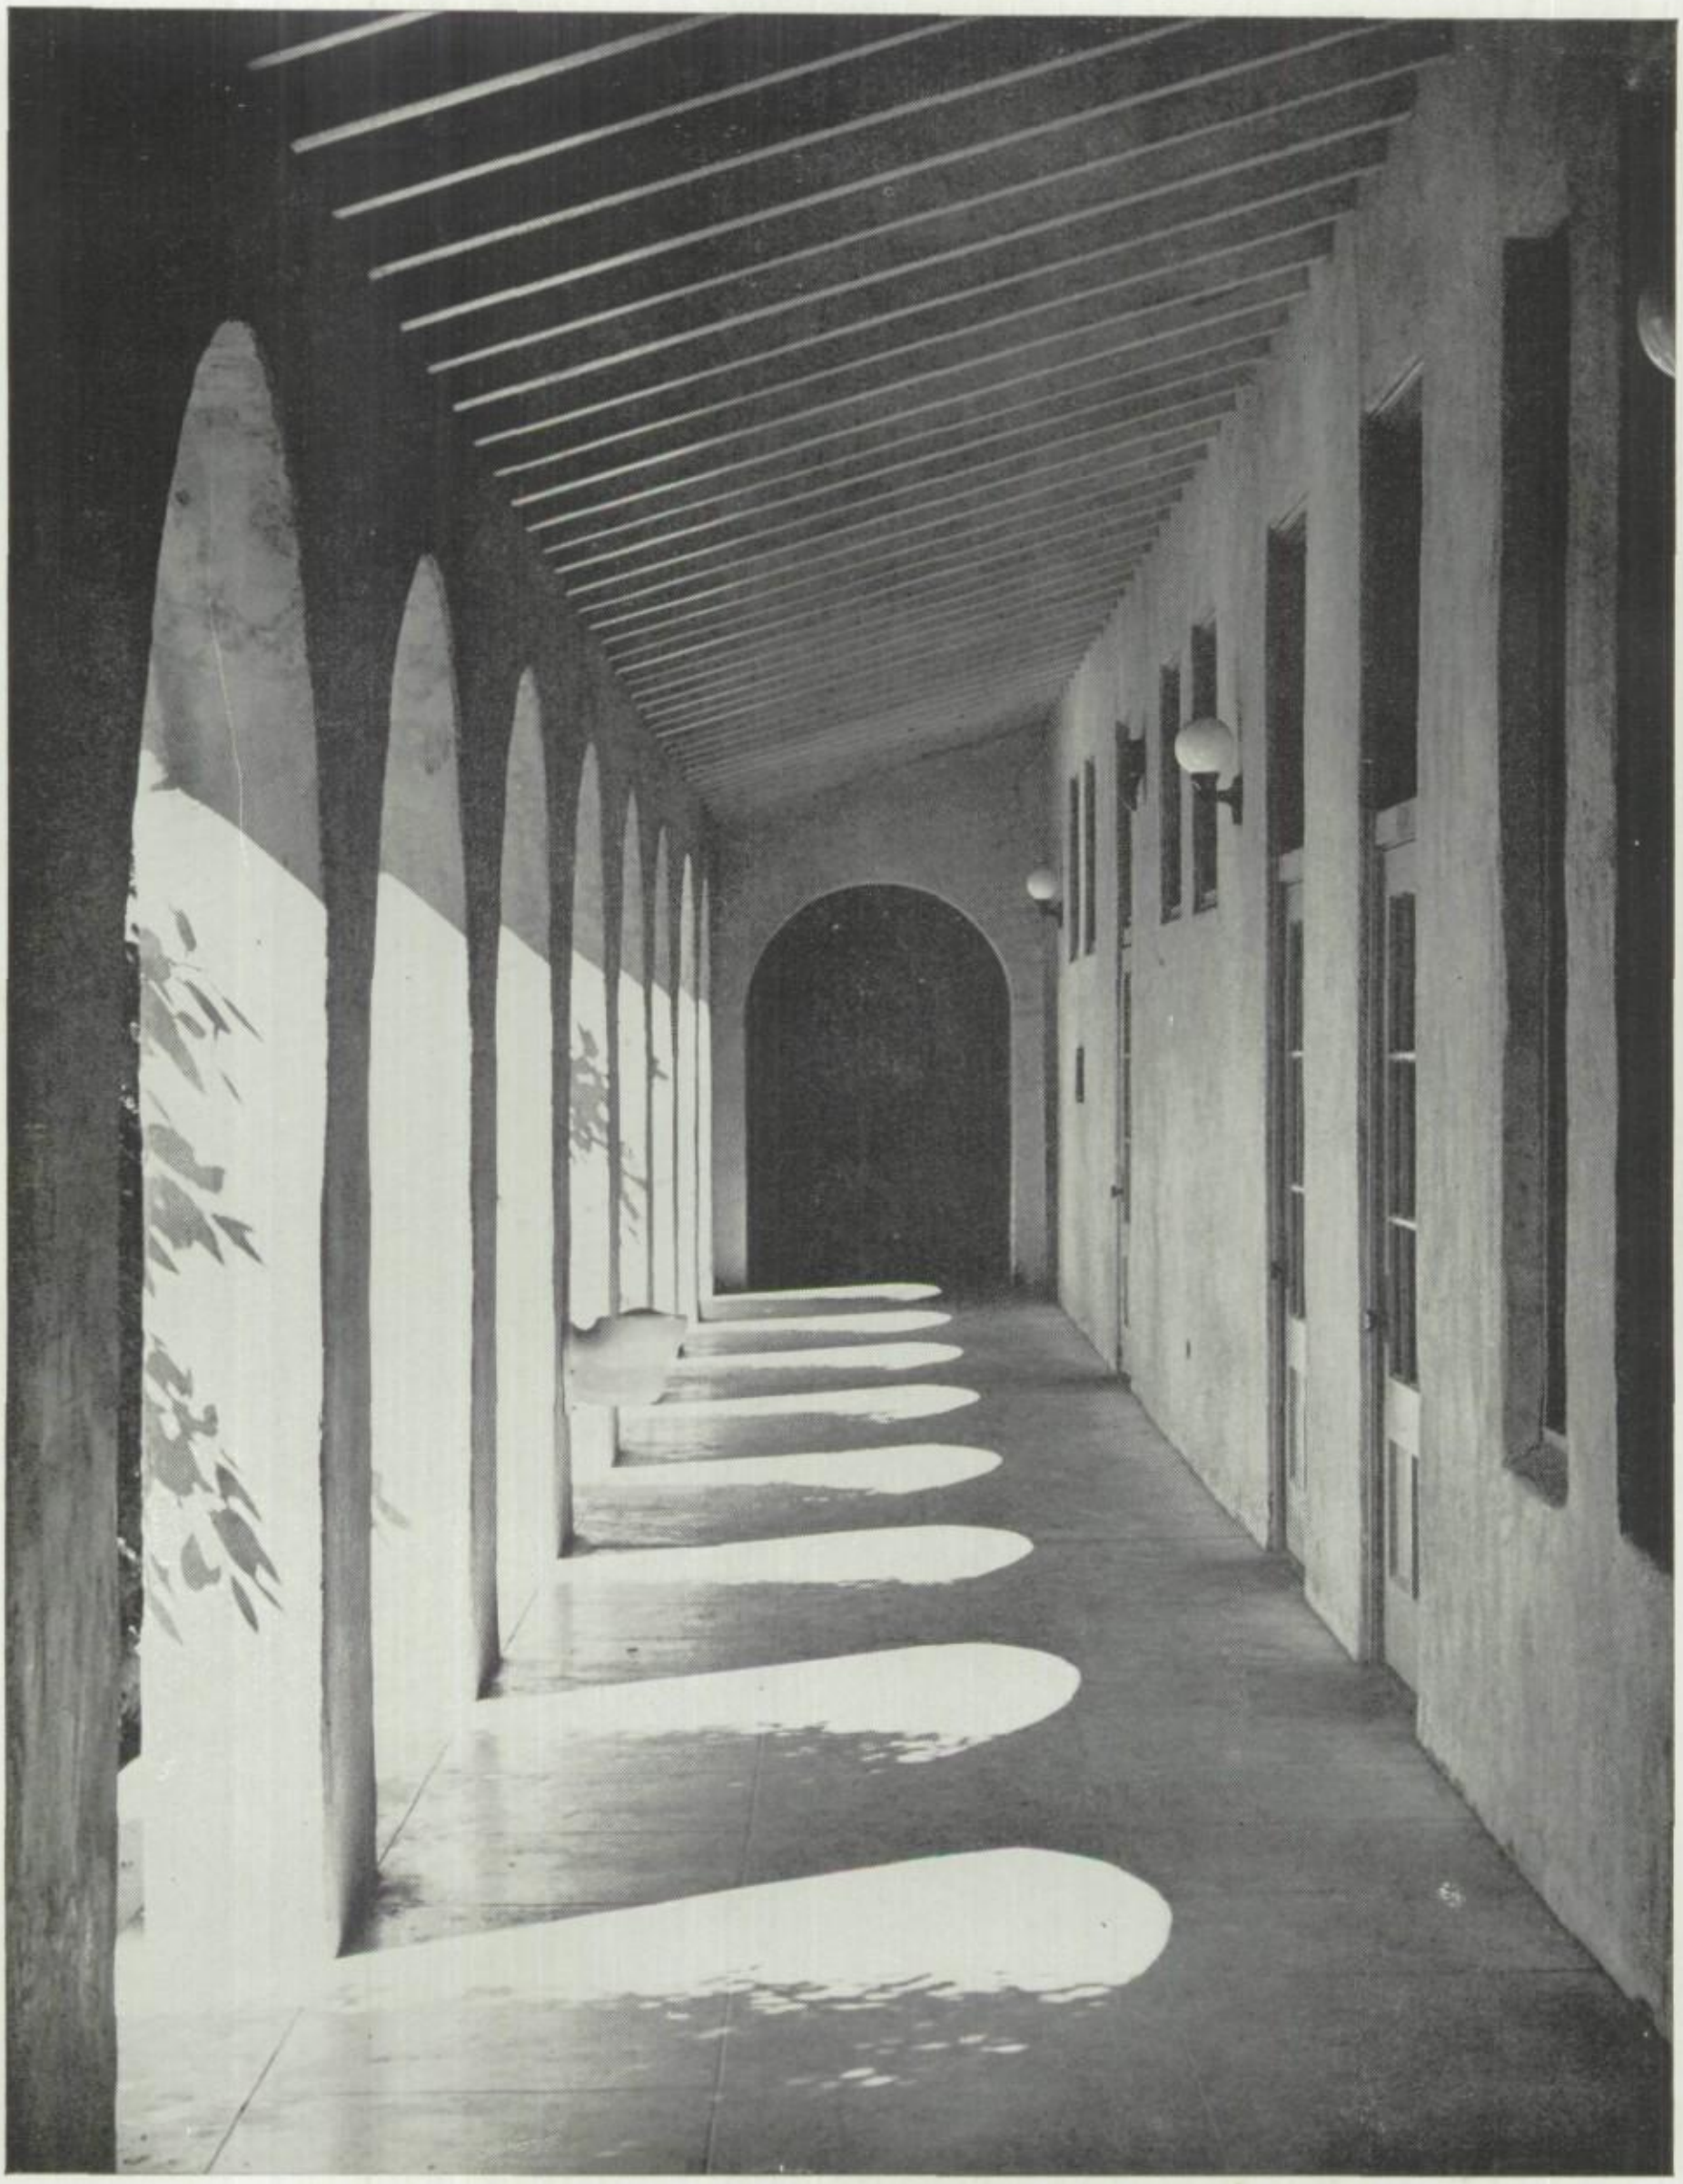
Yes, it's a nice school. Nobody very famous ever came out of it—so far as we know; but a lot of fine American citizens got their high school diplomas from Our School.



Over yonder's the office where every student has to go once in a while—but only when it's necessary; down the hall to the right is the study hall where students do their studying; east of that is the football field where the football boys begin the year of sports; to the left of the office is the tower where student council meetings are held; a little bit farther on is the gym where basketball games are played and some of the big dances are given; north of the gym is the community hall where band and chorus meet and class parties and after-game dances are held; and to the east of this is the parking lot where busses unload students in the morning and pick them up in the afternoon.

The location of Litchfield High School was, long ago, arid desert on which the saguaro cacti flourished. Some of these cacti can still be found within a mile of the school—majestic reminders of the past.

A stately saguaro, the moon glistening through soft, fluffy clouds, a typical night on the desert. This scene has been chosen as a symbol of PEACE — the universal PEACE to which the 1951 Wickiup is dedicated.



The sun is sinking in the west, and the halls of Our School are silent. Another day is completed; the busses have returned students to the four points of the compass. Let's see what has been accomplished.

ADMINISTRATION

This year, as usual, there have been 180 school days, each of which began at nine o'clock in the morning and lasted until four in the afternoon. The ball games and dances took place after regular hours.

Each month, the Board of Education has met to plan for the betterment of the school; and the superintendent, Mr. Tidwell, has put in many, long hours at his desk and in conferences.

The teachers have conducted classes, graded papers, chaperoned dances, ridden the rooters' bus to ball games, and have given much honest advice—ranging from the choice of a future career to the kind of corsage one's dates would like for the next dance.

All members of the administration have tried to make this a good year for the students at Litchfield High; and now it is time to meet the men and women who assume the responsibilities of work and play at L.H.S.

SENIORS

Let us now go back to September, 1950, when the Seniors were having a class-meeting down there in room 7. Shall we go in for a visit?

There is the class motto written on the board: "The courage of the commonplace trains for the courage of the crisis." The class has chosen blue and white for its colors and the red rose for its flower.

Here comes President Tandy Andrade, who calls the class to order and requests the reading of the minutes by the secretary, Crystal Armstrong. Miss Hundhausen then announces that the co-editors chosen for the 1951 Wickiup are Kyle Needham and Crystal Armstrong; the business manager is Ona Lee Allen with Tandy Andrade as her assistant.

Miss Ybarra next explains that the Seniors are to start the sale of magazine subscriptions at once. This is "right down Leone's alley." Leone became a national championship salesman.

Next the class select graduation announcements and are told that throughout the year representatives from various Arizona colleges will visit them to talk about "next year." Their busy schedule was forecast at the first meeting. Let us now meet the members of the Class of '51.

J U N I O R S

This time it is a beautiful October morning as we pause in front of Room 5. It looks as if the Juniors are about to meet. Bill Sweeney is talking over the business on hand with Mrs. Jamison and Hr. Hayden. Listen:

"We'll have to get someone to sell cokes and candy at the game."

"Are we going to have an after-game dance?"

"The jewelry salesman will be here so that we can select the class rings."

"Gee! I hope he has some good ones again this year."

Business manager, Eleanor Brinker, is putting socks and lipstick into bags to give to the class to sell. They are going to have a contest in March and sell air cushions with the tickets.

"After we work so hard to raise the money for the prom and banquet, what are we going to have on the menu? What will be the theme? Who will be master of ceremonies?"

"When the prom is over, all we'll have to do is usher at baccalaureate and decorate for commencement."

It looks as if this class will have a busy year, too; and since the Juniors are now coming in for their meeting, let's take time out to get acquainted with them all.

SOPHOMORES

Now let's take a walk down the hall to Room 4 and visit with the Sophomores who are planning their year's work with help of Mr. Quass and Mr. Komadina.

"Forward ever; backward never" has just been chosen for a motto, the white carnation for the class flower, and chartreuse and fuschia for the colors.

The next business on hand is the initiation of the Freshmen. Everyone offers suggestions and delights in selecting his "slave" for the day.

Then plans must be made for decorating the Study Hall for Christmas with a tree and other festive ornaments.

Discussion next changes to plans for April Frolics. Captains Helen Baker and Richard Esquivel try to place everybody in an event in which he will win.

Then arrangements for an all-school party in the spring must be made, and a reminder given that the final duty of the class is to make the punch for the school picnic in Tempe.

Before we leave, however, let's take a look at the familiar faces in the Sophomore Class.

FRESHMEN

Our large number of Freshmen came early in September. They were new in Our School and were a little shy at first; but after their official welcome by the Sophomores, they fell into the "hang of things". Let's go back to one particular day in September — a day like no other in their four years at high school, but one they will always remember.

It's nine o'clock and the school buses have just arrived with their students, and the freshmen really cause a sensation. The girls have original hair-do's with a two-inch starched strip down the center and pin curls around the sides. They are in harmony with costumes of Levis worn wrong side out and gunny sack blouses. All this is set off with onion necklaces and blue and gold ribbons on toes of each bare foot.

The boys look "simply divine" in their dashing skirts and off-the-shoulder blouses. Onion necklaces, starched hair, and tennis shoes with no laces complete their attire.

Everyone is carrying a frying pan and a bucket, and all seem to be attached to Sophomores. It's a lot of fun.

After this day of excitement, the Freshies settle down to the less interesting dress and accustom themselves to the daily routine of school life under the supervision of Mr. Angermeyr and Mr. West. Later preparations are made for their big party — the conclusion to April Frolics.

CLASS WORK

The ring of the bell, the hurry of students to various class rooms and to the study hall, then silence as each teacher takes the roll for that hour.

In Our School there are six class periods each day, which means that all L.H.S. students attended at least 3800 classes this year or spent 190,000 minutes engaged in class work.

Walking from building to building and through the corridors, we hear strains of "Hall of Fame" as the band practices, the buzz of machinery from the shop, and from doors and windows such questions and answers as: "X—Y+2Z=15"; "I think I should like to give a dramatic reading in the contest this year." "Will you please help me find a good biography of this author?" "There will be basketball practice at four o'clock this afternoon." "What is the Bill of Rights?" "That is a delicious cake we baked." "I can take dictation in shorthand and type sixty words a minute." "Do you know a synonym for industrious?" "Please explain the difference in the speed of light and that of sound." "The paper will be out tomorrow." "I have just finished my biology notebook."

Yes, there is much of the real business of going to school—honest-to-goodness class work— at Litchfield High.

Maybe, if you are real quiet, you may visit some of the classes and see for yourself.

Students Are At Work

Bells ring and students file in and out of classes many times each day. They are busy learning to work with both their minds and their hands. Since we wanted you to see them at work, we asked the photographer to take some pictures of various class room scenes. The ensuing pages suggest the variety and scope of the work at Our School.

AMERICAN HISTORY students learn history of the past, and do not forget that history is being made today.

MECHANICAL DRAWING students learn that blueprints aren't made with blue paper and white ink.

SHOP I boys prepare materials before constructing pipe-racks, bookends, and stools.

DRIVER TRAINING students learn to distinguish between the accelerator and brake and when to apply each.

AMERICAN LITERATURE class reads selections which express the ideals of a growing nation.

VISUAL AIDS students learn the necessary steps in using a movie projector.

THE CAFETERIA provides an inexpensive and wholesome meal for students. Upperclassmen head the rush.

THE OFFICE takes care of those students who are late to class by issuing tardy slips.

HOMEMAKING III girls study child care before starting their annual play school project.

TYPING II students learn to excel in typing speed and accuracy, as well as correct form.

ENGLISH I Freshies prepare to become better students by learning to write well.

THE PHYSICS class is engaged in an experiment explaining the mechanical advantage of pulleys.

STUDY HALL provides a place for study and a wide selection of library books.

BOOKKEEPING students are pictured adding accounting records to their practice books.

SPANISH I alumnos learn the customs and culture of Spanish people as well as their language.

ACTIVITIES

The students are proud of the activities that Litchfield High offers. In addition to regular "book learning," everybody has a chance to engage in one or more other activities. All have opportunities to plan parties, decorate for dances, attend meetings, and take trips.

For student government, there's the Student Council where their own representatives help make rules governing student activities and assist in planning assemblies. This organization has been in operation ever since there has been a high school at Litchfield.

An organization for girls is the Girls' League which was first introduced twelve years ago. A similar organization for boys, the Boys' Alliance, was started in 1948.

For the athletes, there's the "L" Club; for the electrically inclined, there's the radio club; and for homemakers, there's F.H.A. For musicians there's the Band; for singers, Chorus; and if you can talk well, you may get in the Declamation Contest.

For those who have a little printer's ink in their blood, there's the Desert Howl and the Wickiup to publish.

There is something at L.H.S. to cover just about every interest.

Standing: Bill Sweeney, Pat Brooks, Ona Lee Allen, Tandy Andrade, Laddie Coor, Kyle Needham. Seated: Marilyn McMillan, James Ackman, Ginger O'Neal, Phil Brownlie, Mr. Tidwell.

Council Conducts Student Business

President James Ackman brought the first 1950-51 Student Council meeting to order. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Throughout the year minutes have been read, corrected, added to, and approved. These have recorded discussions of a way to increase school spirit, a float in the Salad Bowl Parade, a dance to start a record collection for the school, a program for Patrons' Day, exchange assemblies, and many other important matters concerning the student body.

After James left in March for the Service, Kyle successfully carried on his work as president.

The Council considers their year a very successful one, as they believe they have carried on the student business in the way that the students wished.

When the bang of the gavel brings to close their last meeting, they will leave a little reluctantly, but with the assurance that a new council, that is just as good or better than they were, will come in and take over the job of student affairs.

This year the Council was composed of:

James Ackman ..... President
Kyle Needham ..... Vice-President
Marilyn McMillan ..... Secretary
Pat Brooks ..... Business Manager
Ona Lee Allen ..... Girls' League President
Mr. Tidwell ..... Adviser
Phil Brownlie ..... Boys' Alliance President
Tandy Andrade ..... Senior Class President
Bill Sweeney ..... Junior Class President

Council Heads Activities

The Girls' League is a service organization which helps the girls with the many problems that confront them. One of its important purposes is to create friendship among the girls.

Most of the work of the organization rests with the Girls' League Council, which represents all of the girls in school.

The thirteen members of this year's Council were:

Ona Lee Allen, President; Marilyn McMillan, Vice President; Eleanor Brinker, Secretary; Helen Delgadillo, Treasurer; Marjorie Cooper, Historian; Kathryn Duncan, Mary Louise Laguna, Senior Reps.; Glenda Schwartzkopf, Martha Fulks, Junior Reps.; Louistine Hurley, Sue Singleton, Sophomore Reps.; Aliene Belluzzi, Peggy Reynolds, Freshman Reps.; Miss Mortensen, Adviser.

During the year the girls attended conventions and sponsored one formal dance, the Winter Fantasy.

Boys' Alliance Provides Interests For All Boys

Council Progresses

With Phil Brownlie in charge, Boys' Alliance has progressed in the creation of better spirit among the boys and the development of their interests in the various sports.

In addition to seeing many educational movies throughout the year, Boys' Alliance sponsored intramural basketball games, and the "Wild Harvest Ball," which was one of the outstanding dances of the year.

This year some of the officers attended the first C.B.O. state convention where it was decided that Litchfield would be hosts to the second annual convention.

Officers for this year were:

Standing: Esquivel, Cover, K. Needham, Brownlie, Mr. Coor. Seated: Wood, H. Needham, Sheppard, Watt, Tomlinson.

F.H.A. Active

With the red rose as their symbol for purity and beauty and becoming good home makers as their goal, the twenty-five members of the Litchfield High Homemakers of America had a busy year. Their exhibit at the State Fair with the theme of "The World in Peace and the World in Pieces" won fourth place. Later the girls were hostesses at the Casa De Manana District Convention. At this meeting, which one hundred and twenty girls and fifteen advisers attended, Gloria Rivera, the district vice-president presided. Officers for the year were Leone Sheppard, president; Aliene Belluzzi, vice-president; Martelle Shears, secretary; and Gloria Rivera, treasurer. Miss Alta Mortensen was the adviser.

Goal Achieved

A long awaited goal was achieved by the "L" Club when, through its efforts, the expensive score board and clock were swung into place in the gym.

The Club sponsored J. V. football games and Sport Night to raise money for this project.

With money from dues, the club purchased pins for its members, and for its annual outing chose a picnic at Encanto Park.

Officers for 1950-51 were: Phil Brownlie, president; Mike Polley, vice-president; Henry Needham, secretary; James Ackman, treasurer; and Mr. Komadina, sponsor.

Standing: Gaillard, Cover, Polley, Wood, Webb, Stelley, Sweeney, Stewart, Zeigler, Brownlie, Mr. Komadina. Kneeling: Johns, Brooks, Hall, Tomlinson, Esquivel, H. Needham, Reynolds, K. Needham.

Radio Club

Bob Brunken, Tommy Wertner, Walter Cox, Terry Myers, Roger Pearson, Fred Harwood, and Mr. West.

Replacing worn-out tubes, connecting wires that had somehow become disconnected, and getting the thrill of hearing over a long useless radio an announcer say, "This is Station K.T.A.R., Phoenix, Arizona," were some of the experiences of the newly organized Radio Club at L.H.S.

With Mr. West as the sponsor, the club has made considerable progress. Collecting tools, raising money to buy equipment, and salvaging old radios, have been some of the difficulties that have been overcome.

Originally the club consisted of seven members: Wally, Anderson, Bob Brunken, Walter Cox, Melvin Edwards, Fred Harwood, Jim Phelan, and Bill Zeigler. Since then Terry Myers, Roger Pearson, and Tommy Wertner have been added to the membership. In the above picture are some of the radio students at work. In the foreground is the expensive tube tester which was purchased by the club.

Officers include: Bill Zeigler, president; Roger Pearson, vice-president; Bob Brunken, secretary; Walter Cox, publicity agent; and Mr. West, sponsor.

Verse Choir Adds To Beauty Of Pageant

"On trusting children fast asleep,
On faithful shepherds by their sheep,
On men too wise their wealth to keep,
Shine softly, softly, Christmas star."

As the voices of the Verse Choir pronounced the benediction at the annual Christmas Pageant, a feeling of peace and contentment settled over those present.

The Verse Choir was trained by Mrs. Jamison.

Declamation Contest A Success

It was 8:00 p.m. on February 19. The audience was seated. Anxious participants awaited their turns to speak. James Ackman, master of ceremonies, gave a short welcome speech, and the program began.

As the evening progressed, declamations were given and musical interludes were played. The tension rose as all wondered whom the judges would select for the winners.

Participants were: oratorical division — Tandy Andrade, Ona Allen, Crystal Armstrong, Walter Cox, Dick Hess, Gerald Whaley, and Bill Zeigler; dramatic division—Eleanor Brinker; humorous division—Joyce Craigo, Marilyn McMillan, and June Taylor. Winners were: Tandy, Ona, Crystal; Eleanor; Marilyn, June, and Joyce—first, second and third places, respectively.

Mrs. Jamison coached the students in the contest, which was open to all of the students in Our School.

In the picture, all eyes are turned to Gerald who represented Litchfield in the district Constitution Oration Contest which was held at Tempe.

'51 Desert Howls Wins First Place

"Is that story finished yet?" "We had better fold some more paper." "Say, there's a mistake in this ad." These are just a few of the familiar phrases heard during the first-hour journalism class which edits the Desert Howl, a bimonthly publication.

The day is Friday, the day that the paper must be published. Inky hands, untyped stories, and correction fluid only add to the confusion of the staff.

Finally the sixth period arrives, and all the papers are printed and distributed to their owners.

The journalism staff, composed of editor, Marilyn McMillan; assistant editor, Dora Singleton; sports editor, Henry Needham; business manager, Dick Scott; mimeograph operators, Phill Tripp and Mike Polley; reporters, Leone Sheppard and Ronald Gaillard; and adviser, Mr. Norman Borg, are doing their best to keep in step with the 1949-50 journalism staff who were awarded All-American rating by the National Scholastic Press Association and First Place by Quill and Scroll for the second semester.

The 1950-51 Desert Howl has been awarded First Place by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. The results of the other two organizations have not as yet been received.

Band Entertains Far And Near

The Litchfield High School Band in their brand new blue and gold uniforms looked sharp at the football games this year; and their marching and playing added greatly to the enthusiasm and the color of the games.

The band received applause and compliments at all public appearances which they made. These included playing and marching in the Salad Bowl Parade, the Rodeo Parade, at the State Fair, and at the University of Arizona for the homecoming game, and at Litchfield High Patrons' Day. Also the band made an excellent showing on Music Night.

This year the band, which is under the direction of Mr. Angermeyr, was composed of forty-two members, including seven majorettes.

Additional instruments obtained this year are a new tenor saxaphone, a bass drum, and a field snare drum. Furthermore, there has been a large amount of concert music purchased.

Some of the band members have also formed a Swing Band that has made several public appearances. One was at the Freshman Party and another at the Student Council Record Dance.

Band Improves Throughout Year

At 3:15 each Friday the band assembled in the bleachers to lead the students in a Pep-Assembly. Majorettes practiced formations for their performance during intermission.

Chorus Pleases Audiences

The Christmas Pageant, Music Night, and the Glendale Festival, were all projects this year of the seventy voice chorus, under the direction of Mr. William Angermeyr.

Tandy Andrade, Jerry Brunken, Joyce Craigo, Betty Lee Dudley, Louistine Hurley, Glenda Schwartzkopf, Phill Tripp, and Larry Watt composed an octette which always added to the performance with a change toward popular music. A girls' trio was also made up of members of that group.

"Dear Land of Home" and "My Own America" were two of the songs popular among the entire group, and smiles shone every time "Shortin' Bread" was sung.

Litchfield Students Portray Nativity

Music, speech, and beautiful scenes were combined in the annual Christmas Pageant which was presented to capacity audiences on the evenings of December 19 and 20. The pageant was produced through the united efforts of the faculties of both the Litchfield Elementary School and Litchfield High School and depicted the Nativity scenes with their particular application to the world of today.

Seniors Publish Yearbook

The memories and records of the school year are compiled, edited, and financed by the members of the Senior Class. In accomplishing this, many duties are involved, so that all have an opportunity to participate.

This year the financial work was supervised by Miss Ybarra with Ona Allen as business manager; Tandy Andrade, assistant business manager; James Ackman, Phil Brownlie, Ronald Gaillard, Henry Needham, and Dick Scott, advertising agents; Kathryn Duncan, Mary Louise Laguna, Leone Sheppard, and Jo Ann Snydal, Wickiup salesmen; Gerald Whaley, manager, coke dispenser; and all members of the class assisting in the various business ventures in which the class engaged.

The editing of the book was in charge of Kyle Needham and Crystal Armstrong. Henry Needham and Phil Tomlinson wrote the sports reviews while Wally Anderson, Tandy Andrade, Leone Sheppard, Terry Mack, Ona Allen, Marliyn McMillan, and Jerry Cover helped with other writing. Phil Tomlinson was the art editor, and he and Wally Anderson designed the cover. Students who assisted with typing included Tandy Andrade, Carol Richards, Leone Sheppard, Dora Singleton and Gloria Rivera. Terry Mack aided the editors in reading proof. Miss Hundhausen was the adviser.

ATHLETICS

There are many athletes at Our School. For these students there are football, basketball, track, and tennis. The Owls have opponents for these sports all over the Valley. Some of them are Tolleson, Buckeye, Peoria, Scottsdale, and Carver. The teams have a lot of fun when they get together, and—win or lose—the feathered flock always feels that the contest has been worthwhile.

In the fall about thirty boys run several million miles and throw thousands of passes getting ready for the football games.

Next comes all the running—hundreds of miles—back and forth across the gym floor and the shooting at baskets—about 40,000 times—until the teams are pretty good when the first game starts.

Then three sports come at once. You can see students throwing balls, swinging bats for home runs, racquets to win love games, or running around the track.

A little bit after spring gets here, April Frolics rolls around. Each class devotes all its energy, saved up during the winter, in an effort to come out on top. After a hectic day of track, field, and team events, everyone is tired and ready to go home, but the losers look foreward to winning "next year."

Owls End Season With 2-6 Record

Football, the first sport of the year was a great success, not in the won and lost column—2-6—but in sportsmanship. Superior stated that the Owls were the best sports they had met on the field all year. Buckeye downed the Owl crew 51-18 in the opening game of the season with Phil Tomlinson scoring the Owl's first touchdown of the year. The following week the Litchfield squad lost to Peoria 19-0. Tolleson downed a fighting team, 39-6, as Pug Wood tallied the first touchdown on the home field, but for the next two games it was the Owls 19-0 over St. Johns and a close 27-19 decision over the Phoenix Indians. As the game was being broadcasted over KRIZ, Santa Cruz (Eloy) put the Owls back in the lost column 24-0, with Scottsdale over the rugged Litchfield eleven the following week, 40-6. Superior outscored the Owls 39-13 to close the season.

It was the final game of the season for the Litchfield Owls — the last at L.H.S. for Mike Polley, Phil Brownlie, Phil Tomlinson, Kyle Needham, Jerry Cover, Ronald Gaillard, James Ackman, Tony Aragon, and Wally Anderson.

After the final game of the season the team selected Mike Polley and Phil Brownlie as Co-Captains for the 1950 season.

Under the guidance of Head Coach Tony Komadina and his able assistant, Coach Garcia, the team has had a successful season. In his first year in the trade of a coach, Mr. Komadina has started off well. He has taught the boys sportsmanship at its best.

Next year's football team will be minus eleven men who will graduate this May. Among these seniors are Mike Polley and Phil Brownlie, co-captains of this year's eleven. Phil Tomlinson, Kyle Needham, Phill Tripp, James Ackman, Ronald Gaillard, Gerald Whaley, Tony Aragon, Jerry Cover, and Wally Anderson complete the list of graduates. Polley, a four-year letterman who was the sparkplug of the team, was also a triple threat to the opposing eleven. His passing was extremely effective with Brownlie or Tripp on the receiving end.

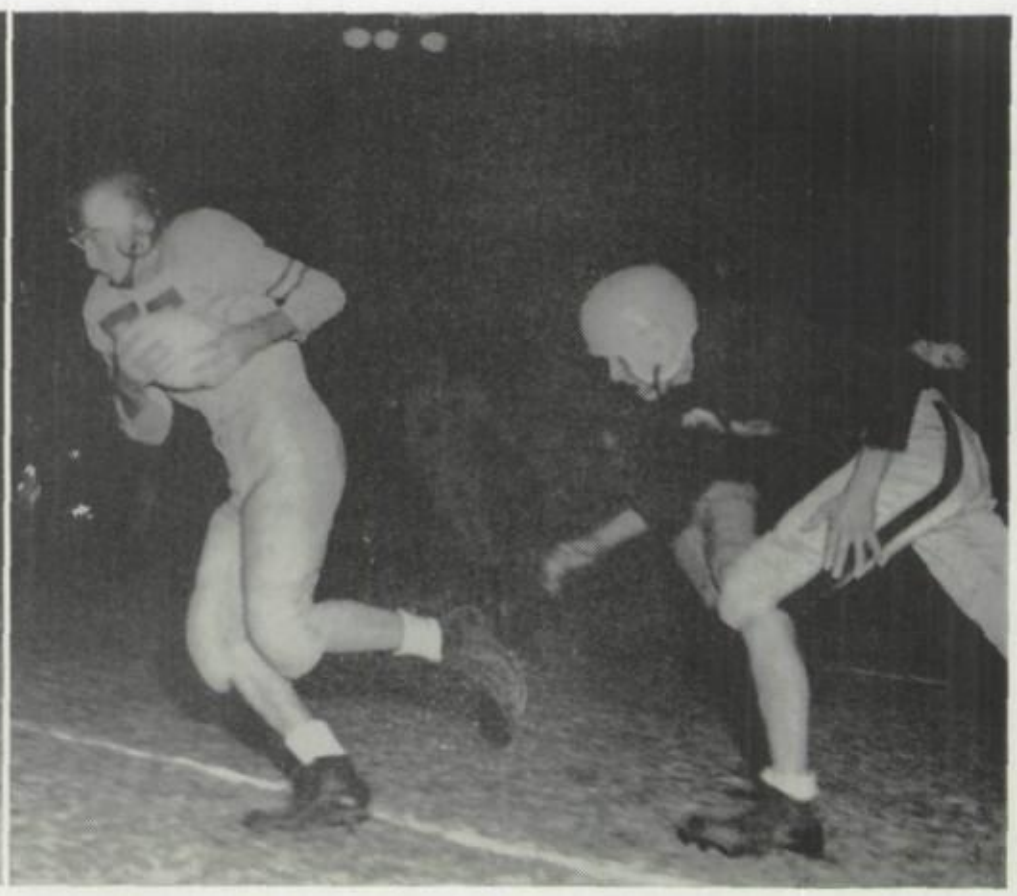
Wood tallies first touchdown on Owl's home field.



Esquivel is downed after gaining Owl yardage.

Needham and Tomlinson, both working from the left half spot, alternated to provide much of the Owl yardage gained on the ground. Ackman, always rough and ready, shared the center spot with Gaillard who played his first season with the Owls. Aragon and Whaley, a transfer from Oregon, filled the tackle and guard positions on the strong side of the unbalanced line. Cover and Anderson, J. Owl Cagers Complete Full Schedule

While losing 14 games and winning only two, the young Owls picked up much needed experience on the basektball court. Only three of the varsity squad were Seniors with one Junior, two Sophomores, and four Freshmen completing the roster of ten players. The experience these boys found on the court will help the team in future years. Coach Komadina helped the players with the offensive and defensive plays, and very often intrasquad games were played to determine the starters for the next game. While Mike Polley, Phil Tomlinson, and Phil Brownlie will be graduating, Ronald Turnbow, Walter Reynolds, Richard Esquivel, Pug Wood, and David Johns will return for next year's team. Phil Brownlie was elected captain of the 1950-51 Owl quint. He also held the team's top scoring with a 8.9 point average. Richard Esquivel was next in line with the scoring averages. The team's best showing of the season was holding the Carver Monarchs to a 31-20 win. The worst showing was in losing to the Scottsdale Beavers 72-33.

In the District Tournament, the Owls lost two consecutive games to be eliminated from the finals. Ajo turned the trick in the first game and Tolleson was the easy victor in the second game.

Three seniors bid farewell to the Owl lineup. Mike Polley, Phil Brownlie, and Phil Tomlinson, all two-year lettermen in basketball, will receive diplomas this spring. Phil Brownlie, who was captain of the team, worked from the post position and used a very effective hook shot. Brownlie also used his 6'3" frame to control a good percentage of the rebounds. Mike Polley and Phil Tomlinson, both guards, usually started and set up the plays. Though Polley and Tomlinson were not constant scorers, they could always be depended upon in their excellent defensive game. Brownlie also holds three letter stripes in football, one in baseball, and one in track. Polley is the veteran of the three, holding four letters in football and four in baseball. Tomlinson holds four in baseball and two in football.

Baseball Season Brings Out Record Number

On Feb. 26, practice for the coming baseball season began with throwing exercises to ready the boys' arms for the twelve game schedule they were to face. First game for the team brought Peoria to the home field to start the season on its way on March 9th.

Before the final game of the season with Carver, the lettermen on the team held an election which chose Mike Polley and Phil Tomlinson as co-captains of the team. They are the graduating seniors of the team.

At the end of the schedule the Owl nine had won 3 while losing nine, but experience was gained on the diamond by the prospects for next year's team. Returning lettermen are Jefferies, Sweeney, Galindo, Wood, Esquivel, Horton, Webb, J. Barnett, B. Barnett.

Polley slides safely into second after hitting a double to left field in an intra-squad game. Wood relays to Tomlinson in an effort to tag Polley for the out.

Cover And Burns Lead Netters

Only seven members composed the small but successful tennis squad this year. Having only three matches scheduled, the team came out with a 1-1-1 record. In the first match, Buckeye won 4-1 with Jerry Cover salvaging the only Owl win. Next, Scottsdale visited the Litchfield campus and lost to the Owl netters 4-2. Jerry Cover and Sue Ann Burns won the first place singles and Ruth Hancock took girls' second place singles. Burns and Hancock then teamed to win the girls' doubles match. In a match with the Tolleson girls, Sue defeated Butch Farley to give the team a tie.

Two of the Owl netters reached the finals in the West Central District Meet with Jerry Cover copping first place to represent the West Central District in the State Meet at Tucson. Sue Ann received second place when she lost to Flossie Turner of Buckeye in the finals. Jerry defeated Franklin Carlson 6-2, 6-3 for the District Championship.

Mr. Komadina was coach of this year's netters.

S O C I A L

Here comes one of our students all dressed up in a suit. It isn't often we get to see everyone looking so nice and that's only when we have a formal dance.

The first one to come up each year is the Wild Harvest Ball sponsored by the Boys' Alliance. That's right before Thanksgiving. The boys work hard to get the gym decorated in the fall colors—round up cornstalks and tables, hang crepe paper, and string the lights to give that special effect. Then at eight o'clock the guests arrive to dance until midnight according to their programs.

The second is the Girls' League's Winter Fantasy. This year the theme was Kupid's Kingdom. The girls did the decorating in red and white. Big red hearts with silhouettes in the white centers highlighted the decorations. The girls chose their dates and filled the programs to make the evening enjoyable. Their Majesties, Phill Tripp and Leone Sheppard reigned supreme over the festivities.

The last big dance is the Junior-Senior Prom held at the Wigwam. The Juniors work all year to honor the Seniors at this banquet and dance. With a theme on April 14 of "An Evening in the Isles" the Seniors may well feel honored.

These events are the highlights of the social year; but besides these there are also class parties, after-game dances, and conventions to make the year more interesting.

Hallowe'en Party Sponsored By Seniors

Who's your partner, Bobby? . . . A typical scene. . . . Cooks or chemists? . . . Um-m-m it looks good! . . . A good time was enjoyed by all. . . . Do-se-do and clap your hands. . . . Scarecrows and everything!

Girls Pick Cotton To Earn Money

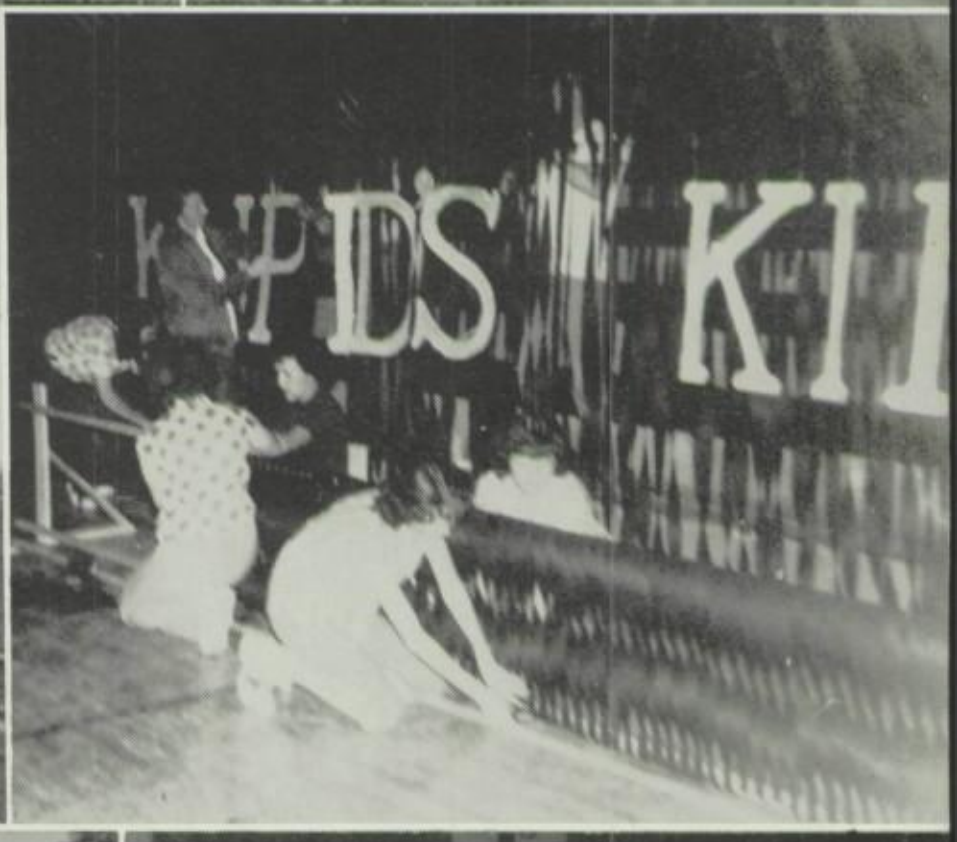
You look tired. . . . Drop something, Leone? . . . Oh, Louistine! . . . Whozzat? . . . Enjoying the sunshine? . . . A sea of cotton . . . How much did it weigh? . . . Coming through . . . Happy? . . . Ah! Food at last!

Frosh In The Limelight

What color polish? . . . Hm-m?? . . . Just we two. . . . Well, we tried hard. . . . Time out for food. . . . Why so sad? . . . Hungry, Keith? . . . Ow! That's cold!

Girls Active In Work And Play

Hair Dresser? . . . Supervising, Henry? . . . Give me a bite. . . . They can work, too! . . . Goin' home? . . . Ah! Women! . . . London bridge is falling down.



SENIORS BID FAREWELL

The swaying fronds of the palms in the background add to the Hawaiian atmosphere as students, former students, and faculty members dance at the Junior-Senior Prom. . . . The end of a perfect year comes as the afternoon shadows creep over the campus and Crystal looks back at Our School.

ADVERTISING

Is there anything you would like to buy? If so, consult the Wickiups advertising section. In this you will find places to buy gas and oil for your car and even places to buy a car. If you need some clothes, the ensuing section will tell you where to get them. You will find the names of places ready to sell you fruit and vegetables, also gas and light for your home. You will learn where to go for an ice cream cone; and if there is any money left, this section will tell you where to place it for safe keeping. There are many other items of interest, too numerous to mention, in this section that was sold to the fine individuals and companies by the enterprising and persevering young advertising agents for the Wickiup, who also compiled this section.
